It was shown that Ballman took $5.00 from the vest pocket of Mr. Kimball while working for him and with this bought a revolver at the store of H. H. Caswell of Waterford. Deputy Sheriff Walter C. Bassett of Lovell and Sheriff J. Melvin Bartlett of East Stoneham were the officers who got the evidence and made the arrest.

"Of their children only one, Arthur W. Hammond, who lives at Milton, N. H., survive her, and two grandsons, Lewis A. Hammond of Calais and Walter J. Hammond, M. D., of the Bangor Hospital.

Mrs. Hammond was cared for during the last week of her life by her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hammond. She was a member of the South Paris Baptist church.

The funeral was held at the home of Mrs. Powers at 10 a. m. Tuesday, and interment took place at Hillside cemetery, Paris Hill.

Car Track Location.
The hearing held at New Hall, Friday, regarding the changing of the location of the electric car track from the point near Capt. F. C. Trilbon's to a point near the Methodist church, occupied about one hour's time.

There were about a dozen interested present, and a number spoke briefly concerning the removal of the track and the advantages gained thereby.

Walter L. Gray spoke briefly for the company, stating the reason for objection is the expense, which under the new laws must be apportioned between the railroad and the town; also that there was another objection, that there was a high bank on the side of the street where the new lines go and if the track was moved there and traffic carried on that side of the street, there would be greater danger of teams going over the bank, and it would also make it more inconvenient for teams, driving into Pleasant street. He also stated that if the change was made it would necessitate the street railway crossing the railroad tracks, and that change could only be made by the Railroad Commissioners. The cost would be about $2,000.00, and if it was necessary to put in a new diamond at the railroad crossing it would cost approximately $1,000.00.

The hearing closed and chairman Farar of the selectmen stated that the decision would be announced later.

Marie Jackson has gone to Revere, Mass., for the summer.

Wm. T. Enstis attended the regimental reunion at Boston last week.

Annie Muzzy is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gammon at Mexico.

BOLSTER'S MILLS.

At the Close of School, The grammar school taught by Mildred Ingersoll of Westbrook closed last Friday. The primary school, under the instruction of Mildred Mills of this place, united with the grammar grade in a picnic at the grove, formerly known as Lombard's grove.

Miss Ingersoll has been instructor here for three consecutive years and almost without exception her former pupils gathered to enjoy this final event with their beloved teacher, as Miss Ingersoll goes to a new field of labor in the fall.

Games were played. A dinner including lemonade and bananas furnished by the teachers was much enjoyed, eaten amid such pleasant scenes as the old grove presents, and songs were sung with all the enthusiasm of young school-children in the open.

During this term of school the following pupils in grammar school have obtained credit for perfect attendance:—Lawrence Lord, Lelia Mills, Philip Noble, Madeline Edwards, Louise Wright. Prizes were taken for excellence in spelling by Louise Wright in 9th grade, Lawrence Briggs in 7th grade and Lawrence Lord in 4th grade. Five visitors were present during the term of 11 weeks.

In the primary school these pupils had perfect attendance:—Edward Wright, Lucia Edwards and Orrin Lord. Prizes for spelling was won by Edward Wright in 3d grade. A class of nine received the fifth degree in the forenoon. A bounteous repast was enjoyed at the noon hour and a fine program given in the afternoon. This was indeed a great day for Oxford Pomona as well as all participants in the meetings.

Last Thursday evening the Masouic lodge received a great delegation of visiting brothers from many lodges, visitors being present from out of the State. Most of the visitors came in autos and it is safe to say Bolster's Mills never shelled so many automobiles at one time before. A banquet was served. Doubtless "those fellows who never tell anything," as the boys designated the Masouic, had a fine time that evening.

The members of the W. C. T. U. gave an entertainment at Grange hall on Friday evening. The program was brief, a duet by Ethel Jilson and Florence Clark, a solo by Rev. W. S. Carnes, Norway, and a solo by Almira Pease made up the numbers. The "pieters" in the album were received by the audience with great applause, giving old-time tunes and postures. "Me, as a girl," "Eben, my husband," "The Tins," and "Sister Jane's" husband" being especially effective. Mrs. Elizabeth Scribner acted as Almira Pease. Ice cream and cake were served and a social was enjoyed.

The Cruise of the S. S. Laurentie.

As Told by One of the Passengers. No. IV.

We entered the harbor of Cartagena, a matter of 250 miles distant from Colon at 8 a. m. February 5th, and sailed or rather steamed away at 2 p. m. of the same day. Our stay was brief but enjoyable. The harbor is considered the finest on the northern coast of South America, with ample room for shipping and protected from the ocean on three sides.

The city, which once bore the proud title of Queen of the Indies, is built on a narrow strip of sand and is surrounded by walls of great thickness. A dismantled fort stands at the entrance to the harbor and high upon a hill, an austere looking building, which might well be a fort but which was said to be a monastery. The city looks oriental, flat-roofed, pillared, and walls covered with a cream colored stucco.

Here the Laurentie left behind her the heavy ground swell which had accompanied her from Colon, much to the discomfort of some of her passengers.

Arrived at LaGuayra, Venezuela, at 7 a. m., leaving Colon and the wonderful canal 608 miles to the rear. LaGuayra is the principal seaport of the Venezuelan Republic but its harbor does not appear to offer much protection to shipping; the breakwater erected being a poor substitute for the landlocked harbors of our other ports of call.

As we neared the shore we appeared to be aiming full tilt at a mountain which reared its head 7000 feet above us, a dark impenetrable looking mass. At its base, tier upon tier, stood little, low, red-roofed houses looking much as though they had been placed there by a child's Noah's ark and that when the impact came they would be demolished.

Fortunately, just before the climax, the anchor was dropped and in a short space of time we were on a smooth, level sea. The houses were 23 miles away by train, nine miles by mule path and six as the crow flies. It was a wonderful ride with many a twist and turn, and passing through numerous short tunnels, where the hot breath of the engine backed back upon us.

We reached a station called Catia, where we could look downward a distance of 3,000 feet. We had "visions," the Laurentie, dwarfed in size to a "painted ship," glimpses of the beautiful blue Caribbean, of Macaco, a seaside resort with a bull ring—and eventually, far, far below us the very heart of the hills, glistening like an emerald, greeted our enraptured sight.

One of the stations the train stopped at was called Zirc Zag, which well described the route. At Catia we had reached an altitude of 3,105 feet and then commenced on the downward grade for 87 feet. In two hours' time after leaving LaGuayra we were at Caracas and were taken in carriages to the hotels engaged, Hotel Ochober and Hotel Kiliad. After lunch the same carriages conveyed us around the city, which is oriental in architecture and has many beautiful parks and statues, the finest of which is the statue of Bolivar, the great patriot, standing in the center of a park.

Other things of note, laid out the road over which we had come from LaGuayra by taking carroux up the mountain by that circuitous route. We were shown a statue of Washington and the face was as the face of a friend in a strange land.

Our guide pointed with pride to the capitol, the palace, the cathedral, the Municipal theatre, the Masenic temple and other buildings too numerous to mention. He was a good driver and guide and tried to speak so he might be understood. Yellow fever and small pox being reported at Caracas, we were inspected very closely at the next port.

The distance between LaGuayra and Port au Prince, Trinidad, is 395 miles "Iere, the land of the Humming Bird," became La Isla de la Trinidad on that July day in 1498, when Columbus on his third voyage of discovery, saw for the first time the island with its three mountain peaks; and in thankfulness of heart, commemorated the event with praise and prayer and reverent bestowal of the symbolic name.

We entered the Gulf of Paria by way of the "Dragon's Mouth," named by Columbus—the other outlet he called the "Mouth of the Serpent." We steamed past summer residences built along the shore, each one nestling in an alcove formed by a hill, the alcoves fortably rounded like high arm chairs with houses in place of seats. Were there giants in these days they could sit on the housetops and lave their feet in the waters at their pleasure.

Anchor was cast while we were still a considerable distance from shore, and a tender, especially chartered for the occasion, conveyed passengers to and from the landing place.

Trinidad is an English colony. In 1802 Great Britain, France, Spain and Holland signed a treaty in which Trinidad was awarded to England. Previous to that time there had been much unpleasantness between the Powers as to which should have possession. The city has many fine buildings and is well policed, the uniform of very dark blue with red stripes and brass buttons, looking very effective on the gentlemen of color privileged to wear it.

We took a carriage to the principal points of interest, including the Maraval reservoir and the Botanical gardens, returning by way of the "Coolie village" of St. James.

Many of the passengers purchased jewelry made by the Coolies out of silver coin. A profusion of bright, ankle chains and bangles adorn the women, the amount of jewelry upon them representing the wealth of the family, the women being the bark. There are a great many Coolies in Trinidad. In 1897 their number was estimated at 98,000. They were first brought to the island under a contract to labor on the plantations as the slaves when first emancipated could not realize that they must continue to work from Hindustan to supply their place. They are well behaved industrious people and their attire is the same as the Hindu of the Indies.

NEWBY.

A pleasant party of 125 people gathered at Poplar Tavern Wednesday evening to celebrate the 25th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kilgore. The evening was much enjoyed by all. The presents were numerous. The evening was pleasantly spent in dancing, with ice-cream, cake and fruit and all went home wishing Mr. and Mrs. Kilgore many more years of happy married life.

Revolutionary Soldiers.

There lies buried in Richardson's Hollow, Greenwood, Maine, in the cemetery there, James Packard, who was a Revolutionary Soldier and one who fought at Bunker Hill. He received a pension from the U. S. Government of $80 eighty dollars per year. His burial place soon to be marked by a stone erected by the U. S. Government.

Beside him, lies his wife, Jemina Chubbill Packard; they were married in Bridgewater, Mass. Subsequently, they lived at Minot, Maine, afterward at North Norway, where they both died. Mr. Packard was with his mother one winter at Harrison, Maine. There was born to them (3) three sons and (5) five daughters all of whom have lived to grow up and have families; the writer of this is a grandson (75) years old of James Packard's youngest son.

If this should meet the eye of any other grandson or granddaughter of said James Packard, I would be very much pleased to hear from them as I hope in near future to have more or less of a history of the family.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

A discussion, "Are farmers having as good homes and conveniences as they can afford? If not, why not?" opened by Frost Mountain Grange and ably discussed.

Fryeburg.

Thursday afternoon, June 28th, Ridgeley Colfax Clark of Dexter, was married to Idella Hill of Green Hill, N. H., the ceremony being performed by Rev. B. N. Stone of Fryeburg. Mr. Clark is principal of Fryeburg Academy, and Miss Hill, a member of the graduating class of 1912. The marriage took place at the home of the bride.

The rooms were prettily decorated with wild flowers, the ceremony taking place beneath a beautiful arch of daisies, from which was swung the "wedding bell," presented to Miss Hill on the day of her graduation.

The wedding party was a family gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hill, the father and mother of the bride, her brothers and sisters, numbering ten, and Mrs. Clark of Dexter, the mother of the bridegroom.

A bountiful and delicious wedding supper was served. Many beautiful presents, both useful and ornamental were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark will spend the summer in Fryeburg in the new cottage which is waiting to receive them.

An Old Time Quilting.

Friday afternoon a large party of ladies gathered in the Barrows home for an old time quilting. In these days when store-bought quilts and comforters may be had for a song, there are altogether too few of the quilts such as our grandmothers made, with the flying star pattern, log cabin or rose of Sharon—quilts in the rare old patterns. In this old home we see many beautiful quilts, one a soft gray "Durant cloth" with exquisite quilting of straight work and rose pattern. Tongues and needles flew equally fast around the quilting frames.

Every year or two Mrs. Barrows and her daughter send invitations to a quilting or rug hooking, and these informal gatherings are looked forward to by all. The house is filled with rare and interesting books, furniture, pictures, prints and casks. Letters from famous men hang upon the walls. A letter to Samuel Bradley from Daniel Webster, written in 1802, is of special interest.

A famous "tree room," painted long ago, is one of the interesting and unique things of the house. The walls are covered with quaint groupings of trees. Every room has its antique furnishings, many of which are heirlooms.

Delicious refreshments were served by Miss Barrows. She stands one of the first in the country in the teaching of domestic science. Mrs. Bertha Howe came with her camera and took pictures of groups at their work, arranged in quaint caps and calashes.

The guests were: Mrs. Carrie Ruggles, Fannie Tibbets, Mrs. S. W. Fife, Mrs. Hannah McKenny, Mrs. M. Barker, Mrs. Joseph Johnson, Mrs. Wm. Gordon, Abby Page, Mrs. S. A. Page, Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Shaw, Miss Spring, Mrs. Andrew Evans, Mrs. C. W. Pike, Mrs. Brown, Anna Barrows, Mrs. Georgeanna Barrows, Hattie Pike, Miss Southwick.
